The sockopt.c file contains two functions that are used to set specific options for a socket.

Both these functions take one argument sd, which is the socket descriptor. The SO_BROADCAST option allows the socket to send broadcast messages, and the IP_HDRINCL option allows the socket to include an IP header in the data.